Dear Viktor,

I have not written to you for a long time because there was nothing new and also because I waited for the ice to melt and for some final decision to be made in regard to my trip to your country. Unfortunately, my expectations were in vain. Apparently, no one sent you any answer. I believe that your friends decided to postpone everything indefinitely. Right after the meeting in summer was called off, I thought that the meeting would probably not take place at all. However, this is not important, I just thought that it might be mutually advantageous. Recently, my people asked me when the meeting would take place. I answered that apparently your people had decided that it would be better not to have a meeting because in their opinion Finland is too friendly with the USSR. However, as far as that is concerned, I should tell you that the policy is made by the president and the government, and the present political situation is such that one must be good friends with a neighbor who is powerful compared with Finland, regardless of one's own sympathies. carrying on a struggle against Soviet espionage, and the political police is staffed in such a way that nothing gets through from there to the Bolsheviks.

Recently, the German consul visited our Passport Office to find out the addresses and the validity of passports of German citizens living in Helsinki, because the Germans, not like those from the East, do not register at the German Consulate upon arrival in Finland. However, all foreigners who stay in Finland more than three months, or who come here to work even for one day, must register at our Passport Bureau. Without our permission, no foreigner can work in Finland.

What news do you have? Have you seen Foss, and have you asked him whether he happens to have any duplicates of Bulgarian stamps?

How is Lida's health? Please give her my greetings.

How is Astrid? Please give her my kindest regards. TUTTELHEIM

Apparently, V. V. ^{must be} is devoting all his attention to the forthcoming wedding of the King [of Belgians] with Donna Pabiola.

His reports come in regularly, but they contain nothing personal.

So, I shall wait for your letter. Greetings to Mr. G. ??

Please write.

Sincerely yours,

K. K.
